

Krista Carter
Marketing Director
Laurels of Charlottesville
490 Hillsdale Rd
Charlottesville, VA 22901
(434)-951-4200

The Laurels of Charlottesville

The Laurels of Charlottesville

Charlottesville, VA – October 2018 –

The Laurels of Charlottesville was nominated for HQI's Innovators Award Event for the 2018 year. HQI's mission is to create solutions that make a measurable difference on individual and community health.

They use only those strategies and tools with proven effectiveness in the healthcare industry, tailored to fit your organization and its goals. Along with their technical expertise, our highly credentialed team members offer experience in a variety of clinical settings, from nursing homes and counseling centers to hospitals and physician offices.

The work that HQI performs for its clients is guided by four core values:

Creativity – HQI explores challenges from every angle to suggest fresh approaches and new possibilities. They keep up with technology and its applications to healthcare problem solving. They are open to the unexpected and to how it can illuminate the quality journey.

Integrity – HQI is a reliable, objective resource. They handle healthcare data and other sensitive information with the utmost confidentiality. They tell the truth and keep our promises because it is what our clients deserve—and it is the right thing to do.

Teamwork – HQI believes that healthcare is a team sport. They partner with other organizations that share our quality improvement goals, because together they all can go further, faster. They work collaboratively with our clients, and we support that work with multidisciplinary project teams. Clients benefit from the range of skills and perspectives that our diverse workforce offers.

Excellence – HQI always does a thorough, accurate, above-and-beyond job. We take responsibility for remaining current with the best thinking in QI, patient care and the business of healthcare. Our team members are professionals who take pride in their work.

The Laurels of Charlottesville is humbled to be honored for such a prestige award and be nominated by their peers.

For more information about Health Quality Innovators, inpatient skilled nursing, or outpatient program offered at The Laurels of Charlottesville, please contact Krista Carter, at kcarter2@laurelhealth.com.